

A FALL UPDATE FROM CAMPUS HOUSE

A NOTE FROM ROB

In an attempt to encapsulate all that God has been doing in and through Campus House over these last few weeks, I keep coming back to these words from Thomas Merton: "Gratitude takes nothing for granted, is never unresponsive, is constantly awakening to new wonder and to praise the goodness of God." We always want to guard against the temptation to slip into entitlement or demandingness, but I think the Lord has been calling us into a humility-drenched expectation and gratitude for the way He is transforming lives—healing past wounds, breaking chains of sin, inviting the lonely into Gospel-centered community, reframing priorities, and aligning hundreds of Boilermakers with His Truth, grace, and living hope. We are so grateful for the gift of your partnership in this good work and invite you to respond with us in wonder, praise, and a prayerful attentiveness to how He is moving so that we can keep in step. (1 Peter 2:21)

"This is what discipleship looks like, within a Community Group context and more—intentionally choosing Jesus, who does the growing, maturing, and leading. It is raw, authentic, and exists equally within the deliberate choice to love one another, as well as in the tangential moments of coming alongside. Discipleship is messy, nuanced, and vital."

"Campus House is a safe haven where growth and connection are made real and accessible, but it also presents the Bible as the ultimate Truth. I leave every week feeling more knowledgeable and more in love with God's Truth, and I am also gaining an understanding of how my faith will work in life after Purdue. I am thankful for the firm and steadfast community of believers and friends I have at Campus House."
